

High half selects checkpoints: spatial validation, not an independent test; no guard band. Reference is an experimental estimate. Dashed contour: scored interior. Matched measured CNN C=1, trained on the same low half as Hybrid ResNet, is shown without patch-offset alignment, tilt seed, or phase-field refinement. This is an architecture baseline under this study protocol, not a reproduction of the published CNN result. Whole-acquisition images include the training region.